Let's Start!

Sally has a new job! What is her routine like? Let's find out!

Learning Outcome

Exchange personal information about the home and family in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- What is your daily routine like?
- What do you usually do on weekends?

Can Do Statements

- I can ask and tell time.
- I can talk about the frequency of some actions and events.
- I can talk about daily routines.

Let's Explore!

Sally writes an e-mail to her friend about her routine*.

* A message that is sent using the internet and a computer.

 A regular or fixed way of doing things.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Hi Ana,

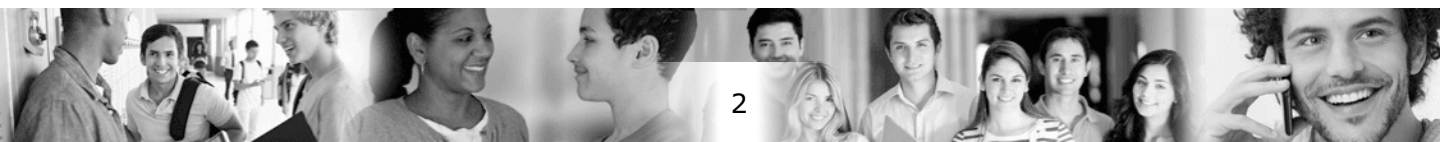

I have a new job! I wake up at half past 6 every morning. What time do you wake up? I go to the gym and exercise for an hour. Then, I get ready and go to work.

I have to do many things every day. I take a yoga class twice a week. It is on Monday and Thursday evenings at 5.30 p.m. My instructor is great!

How often do you go to yoga? I take a night class from a quarter to 6 to a quarter past 8. I go three times a week. I study Spanish.

Before class, I go for a walk. I have a busy day. I go to bed at midnight!

Learning Points

Expressions of Frequency

You use expressions of frequency to say how many times you do an activity.

You ask the question:

How often do you ... ?

Expressions of Frequency	Examples
every ... (day of the week)	Every Friday, I meet my friends for dinner.
on ... (day of the week) nights	I play tennis on Wednesday nights.
once (=one time) a week	I meet my friend once a week.
twice (=two times) a week	I take a yoga class twice a week.
(#) times a month	I watch a movie three times a month.

Examples:

• Tom: How often do you go to the gym?

Sam: Three times a week.

Learning Points

Telling the Time

Look at the chart. You can use these expressions to tell the time. You use the Simple Present tense of the verb to be in sentences where you tell time.

Time	Expression	Example
	It's 1 p.m.	It's 1 o'clock in the afternoon.
	It's 3:35 a.m. It's 3:35 p.m.	It's twenty-five minutes to 4 in the morning. It's twenty-five minutes to 4 in the afternoon.
	It's 9:15 p.m. It's 9:15 a.m.	It's a quarter past 9 in the evening. It's a quarter past 9 in the morning.
